

From the Boston Business Journal

:<http://www.bizjournals.com/boston/news/2012/03/12/bbj-healthiest-employers.html>

Mar 12, 2012, 3:08pm EDT

BBJ names 15 Healthiest Employers in Boston for 2012

Journal Staff

The Boston Business Journal announced the finalists for its second annual Healthiest Employers program, which will be held April 12 at the Seaport Hotel. The BBJ is honoring 15 individual companies for their varied efforts in maintaining and improving employee health.

"With health care costs rising, a healthy workforce is more important than ever," said BBJ Publisher Chris McIntosh. "The award and event will spotlight what area companies are doing to keep their workers off the sick rolls. And as we will report, these efforts go beyond keeping employees trim and healthy -- they also trim quite a bit off the bottom line."

This year's keynote speaker will be renowned local restaurant Barbara Lynch, owner of six restaurants, including No. 9 Park and Menton. Lynch has launched BLinc, a startup creating nutritional dehydrated food products.

Read more: More information about the Healthiest Employers event.

The Healthiest Employers finalists are chosen through an assessment process compromised of 75 scored questions that are completed by the participating companies. This year's finalists, in alphabetical order, are:

Small-company category (2-99 employees):

- Borislow Insurance
- DiCicco, Gulman & Company
- Eagle Bank
- Health Management Resources
- Massachusetts Hospital Association

Medium-size company category (100-499 employees):

- Family Service Association
- MiddleOak

- Millennium Partners Sports Club Management
- NEI
- Network Health

Large-company category (500 and over employees):

- CA Technologies
- Eastern Bank
- Granite LLC
- Shire Human Genetic Therapies
- Tufts Health Plan

The BBJ newsroom can be reached at boston@bizjournals.com.